2. Narrative:

a. Battery A deployed to Santa Fe Dam for anti-airwarfare training on 25-26 January 1975. During 8-9 February 1975 the Battery conducted Essential Subjects testing and completed Human Relations requalification requirements. 12-13 April 1975, Battery A deployed to Santa Fe Dam for combined Redeye and Hawk night anti-airwarfare operations. During 17-18 May 1975 the Battery once again deployed to Santa Fe Dam for extensive training prior to attending ATD. ATD took place at Camp Roberts, California, where the emphasis was placed on tactical battalion operations. The exercise was supported by high performance aircraft from nearby Naval and Marine Corps Air Stations. During the period 23-24 August 1975, Battery A deployed to Santa Fe Dam for pre-firex TCO and FCO training. 26-28 September Battery A conducted a successful Firex at 29 Palms, California.
